SPIRITUAL DETECTIVE AT THE STATE CAPITOL

WAS THE UNIQUE BUT FORCEFUL TOPIC OF REV. HABICK LAST EVENING

Text, Numbers 32-23 "... and be sure your sin will find you out." The topic, at first glance, may seem as though I were going to talk to you upon a very modern subject, but I am not; it is the old, old Gospel, though ever new; it is the old Gospel underneath it all; and I am glad we have such an honest, straightforward Gospel to preach; it does not come to paralyze the functions of the mind; it makes no hypnotic passes; its diagnosis convinces just as an honest physician makes a diagnosis of a patient's case; when this honest physician says an operation is necessary to remove the cause, whatever it may be, the patient knows the only way for a cure is an operation; there is no diagnosis so thorough as that of the Holy Ghost; the human doctor often makes a mistake and it is awful, but when it comes to the Holy Ghost, He never makes a wrong diagnosis— "... and be sure your sin will find you out." God does not deal in generalities; He has got to be specific; the disease is so gross He has to be specific: "... be sure your sin will find you out."

It is only now and then we hear this text preached upon; to be sure it is in the Bible; but it has such a rough, unvarnished, uncultured, grating sound; it strikes the nerves in such a manner as to shock rather than soothe.

We preach, and think more of running rivers, spreading trees, areas of flowers, fields of billowy grasses, gently swayed by gentle zephyrs from heaven; singing birds, gaily plumed birds, flying hither and thither in the branches of the trees or among the grasses of the fields, or sipping honey from the flowers, but every now and then we get a view of an arid area, where no trees grow, where no birds sing, where no flowers bloom, but we see standing out in plain letters on the horizon these words: "Be sure your sin will find you out."

I repeat, we like to hear sermons that will produce thoughts of flower gardens, fruits and unclouded skies, texts that will make you think of singing brooks as they rush to the deep.

But this is the old Gospel to go by to get to heaven. There may be another Gospel that you know of, but you can have it and go to hell with it. I know of no other Gospel, first repentance for sin, forgiveness. First, righteousness, then joy and peace in the Holy Ghost. Where sin and unrighteousness is there never can be any joy. You have to let God clean you up from the sub-cellars of your soul to the garret. I elect to preach a gospel that will make men well. I like, by the grace of God, to be the surgeon who cuts out the cancer that is taking you down to hell. "Be sure your sin will find you out." Why will you delay and neglect so great salvation when you know the only cure for you at all is a clean-up, good for time and for eternity.

In the years gone by I used to love to read detective stories of standard and proper kind, how a detective would get on the track of an evildoer and follow him, disguised oftentimes, from city to city, from country to country, sometimes for years, but at last the guilty fell into the toils, he was arrested, tried by the courts, sentenced. By the law, inexorable law. But there is a law more dignified than any law in America, than the international law of the nations, and every man who breaks that law, he certainly will be found out and sent to God. A just God, too, one who is merciful but just. God will uphold his own law and don't you ever forget that. And what I enjoy to-night is that I am preaching such a gospel, a gospel that is inexorable. Any statute that does not have a penalty attached to it is not a law. If God's law has not a penalty, it is not a law. I am glad of the inexorable law of both God and man. I feel safe because of the inexorable attitude of our law toward man; and God's inexorable law toward the sinner.

AVALANCHE OF NEW BILLS CONTINUES—MANY LABOR MEASURES

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—Provision for an eight-hour day on all public work and a weekly payday for such work are features of the labor bill introduced today by Senator Lyon of Los Angeles. It would apply to all state, county and municipal work, either by direct employment or by contract.

The avalanche of new bills introduced as about to be introduced continues. A number of these affect the fish and game department. Among them are:

Limiting hunters to use of shotguns firing only two shots without reloading; prohibiting hunting licenses to boys under 14; opening dove season August 15; permitting taking black abalones for food purposes; prohibiting salmon eggs as fishing bait; permitting Civil War veterans to hunt and fish without license.

Bills affecting divorce matters are: Lengthening divorce period; postponing hearing in default cases and increasing the time for appeal to 10 months; providing divorce proceedings and testimony cannot become public without a court order; giving a married person a divorce from an insane spouse after ten years of marriage.

Bills touching marketing and industries: Prohibiting sale of Manchurian or European walnuts as domestic nuts; repealing market commission act; providing standardization law to inter-county as well as interstate shipments; regulating kelp industry.

Several additional labor measures are in sight. Laborers are given a lien on crops they harvest in one bill. Additional legislation would require that life risks of like age and class shall pay the same rate; that premiums shall not be diverted from policy holders, and providing a $25 license fee and a $5000 bond.

The use of the flag for advertising purposes is prohibited in one bill. Another makes it an offense for anyone but a Grand Army member to wear a G. A. R. button.

Assemblyman L. L. Dennett is whipping into shape an amendment to the sanitary districts act to permit towns which are too small to incorporate as cities of the sixth class to make local improvements, to prevent the creation of nuisances and to care for shade trees. This would virtually make the improvement club of the community the community government, but without expense. This would affect several towns in practically every county.

The drys of California have a new champion in Frank F. Merriam, Long Beach newspaperman, a member of the assembly. His first shot was a bill to stop the sale of liquor except in saloons and to regulate these saloons to a fare-thee-well.

Merriam, whose bill is now a week old, is being besieged with such remarks as: "That bill is unreasonably drastic," and "Why don't you go out for total prohibition while you're at it?" Merriam's reply is usually: "That same law has been applied in Iowa where saloons are operated under its provisions. I favor total prohibition, but California doesn't appear to be ready for that yet. After such a law as I propose had been working in Iowa for some time the people realized that where there is less liquor there is greater prosperity. Prohibition followed."

Merriam has been fighting against liquor since he was 18 years old—and he's well up in years now. He served three years in the Iowa legislature and played a principal part in the long bitter fight that eventually made the state dry.

Merriam's bill to stop the sale of intoxicants in all places except drastically regulated saloons and Sam Knight's bill to abolish saloons and barrooms have the liquor and saloon interests here guessing.

COLUMBUS AVENUE P. T. A.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Columbus avenue school will hold its regular meeting at the school on Thursday in the kindergarten room of the school. The speaker of the afternoon will be Dr. Evangeline Jordan of Los Angeles, who will speak on the subject, "The Care of Children's Teeth." Dr. Jordan has had two years' experience along this line and the results of her study are very interesting. At 2:30 in the first grade room the executive board meeting will be held, when the president, Mrs. J. R. White, wishes all the officers and chairmen to attend.

SENATOR CUMMINS WANTS DEBATE

RESOLUTION CALLING FOR DISCUSSION OF PRESIDENT'S SPEECH PROVOKES BITTERNESS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Senate failed to take action on Senator Cummins' resolution for open debate on the peace address, following two hours of bitter discussion. The resolution is now on the calendar and can be called up by Cummins at any time. Senator Cummins says he will call it up at every opportunity, which will likely mean extra sessions. He contends that the matter is vastly more important than any legislation now pending.

$151,000,000 FOR FORTIFICATIONS

APPROPRIATION FOR DEFENSE LARGEST IN NATION'S HISTORY—EXCEEDS LAST YEAR BY $23,000,000

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The fortifications bill reported to the House to-day totals over $151,000,000 and is the largest in the nation's history. It also authorizes additional expenditures of over $9,000,000. The appropriation is $23,000,000 greater than last year. Among the provisions of the bill is the establishment of a coast defense aviation squad, movable railroad armaments, 8 hydroaeroplane squads for the United States and her insular possessions and the construction of emplacements for additional 12-inch guns and light and power plants for San Diego and Los Angeles fortifications.

WILL CURB WALL STREET

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR CORRECTIVE MEASURES WILL BE OUTCOME OF INVESTIGATION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The House Rules Leak Probe committee adjourned to Washington after learning that it would take some time to secure the necessary records from the Stock Exchange here. Recommendations for corrective measures toward Wall Street are practically certain to be the outcome of the probe.

ASKS SALE OF TIMBER

ASSEMBLYMAN MERRIAM WANTS PROCEEDS FROM FORESTS USED FOR FLOOD CONTROL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—Assemblyman Merriam of Long Beach to-day offered a resolution in the legislature asking Congress to sell the ripe timber in the national forests so that the young trees may have a chance to grow, the money to be realized from the sale of this wood to be used for flood control purposes.

The public and press of Germany have been favorably impressed with the speech.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Slav forces have again abandoned Tulcea. Elsewhere in Roumania Teuton progress is reported. South of Riga the enemy was worsted in an engagement. Six Allied aeroplanes were downed in the West yesterday.

MAIMED OFFER TESTIMONY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—A number of badly mutilated witnesses minus arms and legs appeared to-day to give testimony in the trial of Thomas Mooney as to how they were maimed by the preparedness parade bomb explosion. The state is seeking through these witnesses to show that the bomb was planted on the sidewalk and not thrown from a building as the defense contends.

APPROVES CALIFORNIA'S SUGGESTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Congressman Rainey, a member of the House Ways and Means committee, to-day stated that Congress welcomes California's suggestion to limit the federal income and inheritance tax provided California obtains a limitation of state demands on the nation.

GOD'S FIATS

BIBLE PREDICTIONS WILL BE CARRIED OUT IN MINUTEST DETAIL

"The Origin, History and Destiny of Satan," which is the subject of the discourse at 7:45 tonight at Evangel hall, 115 South San Fernando road, promises to be a theme of intense interest, since the question is often asked, "Why Did God Permit Sin?" and "Why Does not God Destroy Satan?" Evangelist Philip L. Knox will speak on this important question.

Evangelist Celian Andross spoke at the hall last night on "God's Fiats in Great Crises." He mentioned the experiences of Noah, Lot, Nebuchadnezzar, Cyrus, Babylon, Tyre and Jerusalem to show that the fiats of the Almighty One proclaimed to meet impending crises always have been carried out in minutest detail, and he added that the Bible predictions for our day will yet meet their complete fulfillment.

The speaker introduced his subject by reading Genesis 6:13: "And the Lord said, My spirit shall not always strive with men, for that he is flesh; yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years."

"A probation of 120 years was given that wicked people, in which to repent," continued the speaker. "Then the great flood was to come. Noah was instructed to build the ark, and as the mammoth boat was built on dry land with no water in sight, and as the years passed by with no sign of rain, we can imagine the scoffers' words, and attitude of derision as they quipped the old man about his stationary ship. One hundred nineteen years passed, and still the ridicule continued. Noah and his family were the laughing stock of that generation.

"But when 120 years had passed God said to Noah, 'Come thou, and all the house into the ark.' Eight persons entered, and others might have joined them, but they preferred to go with the crowd of blasphemous mockers. The great door was shut, and still the rabble jeered. But when the rain began to descend, when the lurid lightning flashed across the sky and the thunders crashed they begged Noah to open the door; but this he could not do. "When we tell men Christ is coming, some say with scorn, 'O, we heard that 50 years ago.' The scoffers of Noah's day heard for 120 years that the flood was coming, but they chose to sneer and miserably perished.

"God predicted that in the fourth generation the Israelites who had gone down into Egypt would return to Canaan. Who ever heard of a race of slaves leaving their masters in one night without any human assistance. The north fought four years to liberate the southern slaves. But all Pharaoh's army was unable to prevent the escape of the Hebrews when the time of their deliverance arrived. God made a way through the Red Sea for his people, but the great host of chariots and armed men was swallowed up in the angry waters.

"Sodom and Gomorrah were warned of impending doom, but their wicked inhabitants chose to scoff. Only Lot and his immediate family were saved.

"Nebuchadnezzar was warned that his boasting, if continued, would bring upon him the punishment of God, who would for seven years take away his wisdom and reduce him to the mental level of the beasts. Both the Bible record and the history of those ancient times say the king of Babylon was insane for seven years, ate grass like the cattle and wandered in the fields, after which his reason returned.

"Of King Cyrus it was foretold in Isaiah 44:28 that he would command the rebuilding of Jerusalem, and the next chapter predicted that before him would be opened the two-leaved gates and the gates shall not be shut. The night of Belshazzar's idolatrous feast in Babylon Cyrus diverted the waters of the Euphrates river, which ran through the city, but even thus would have been unable to capture that walled metropolis had not the gates along the river been left open. Great walls protected the city on both sides of the river, as well as around it.

"Of Babylon we read in Isaiah 13:20, 'It shall never be inhabited, neither shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation; neither shall the Arabian pitch tent there; neither shall the shepherds make their fold there. But wild beasts of the desert shall lie there; and their houses shall be full of doleful creatures; and owls shall dwell there, and satyrs shall dance there.' Babylon is to this day in the very condition predicted by the prophecy. Travellers in the Euphrates valley tell us the superstitious Arabs refuse to camp over night on the site of ancient Babylon, for the ruins are full of wild beasts of all sorts.

DR. MCNAUGHT, STATE COMMISSIONER, GIVES ADDRESS TO PARENT-TEACHERS

Dr. Margaret Schallenger McNaught, who was elected to the office of State Commissioner of elementary schools in 1914, gave a very interesting and instructive address at the High School on Monday afternoon. Dr. McNaught told of her visits to schools in various portions of the state and of the efforts being made to improve conditions in more remote places, and to raise the standard in elementary schools all over the state. She said:

In the elementary schools of California there are 500,000 children, and about one-fifth of this number in the high schools, yet the report of the State Superintendent of schools for last year shows that the increase in equipment and building for the whole state of California for the elementary schools was $1000.00. The increase in the high schools was $300,000.00 for one-fifth as many children. With the best we can do it will be many years before the high school will be "the people's school." The large majority of children will not get any more education than they get in the elementary schools, therefore the people of California ought to be interested in the elementary schools. We have splendid laws for kindergartens, we have a splendid system for our high schools, but the elementary schools are not well provided for.

On account of shortage of funds last year, the average number of school days was reduced from 180 to 166 days. In Los Angeles County you lost thirteen days. San Francisco lost seventeen days, and in some of the outlying districts the boys and girls are receiving but six or seven months of education, where they should receive nine.

A few years ago when the poll tax was taken away, we lost our revenue from that source, as nothing was provided to take the place of the poll tax. We are hoping to get an appropriation of $20.00 per child for the average daily attendance for the state, instead of $15.00, and $25.00 county tax instead of $13.00. Also we hope to get a law passed providing for a building appropriation separate from the regular maintenance, of 15 cents on the hundred dollars. If we get both of these bills passed, we would be in fine condition.

The High School Principals' Convention, at Riverside, went on record as being in favor of more money for elementary schools. We hope to have the Federation of Women's Clubs back the movement. I wish the Parent-Teachers' Association would watch legislation and use their best efforts to see that the elementary school children get their rights. The time has come when we must make the elementary school child popular. Write to your legislators on the subject of more money for the elementary schools, talk it among your friends, make it a slogan.

DEATH OF REV. JOHN C. MCKEE

A few minutes past midnight at his late home, 115 North Kenwood street, Glendale, on Wednesday, January 24, 1917, occurred the death of Rev. John C. McKee, aged 72 years. Rev. McKee had resided in Glendale for six years. Funeral services will be held from the Jewel City Undertaking parlors Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Obituary in full tomorrow.

MOTHERS' READING CIRCLE

The Mothers' Study Reading Circle will meet Thursday at 2 o'clock at the Pacific Avenue school. Mrs. Zella Gibbons will give from her store of information and experience the common sense way of presenting the story of life to children. All are cordially urged to attend, whether members or not.

predicted by the prophecy. Travellers in the Euphrates valley tell us the superstitious Arabs refuse to camp over night on the site of ancient Babylon, for the ruins are full of wild beasts of all sorts.

"We do well to heed the statements of the Bible concerning this generation in which we live, which God has said would see the culmination of events in this world. The coming of the Saviour is just before us. Each soul will be judged not upon the merits of the preacher, nor of the individual's parents, but upon the soul's merits. 'We must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ.' Is your life in conformity with the Divine will? Are you sure God has forgiven your sins? If you are ready to meet the Eternal Judge your heart will beat with joy. Let us make peace with God."

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1917

AN EMPHATIC REQUEST

The management of the Evening News again makes an emphatic request that no person make an attempt to air personal grievances through the columns of the News. Settle your cat fights, chicken troubles, church supper differences, children's quarrels and the half hundred other neighborhood uprisings that are of no interest to the general public. Dear friends, life is too short to spend time quarreling over little petty affairs, and especially is it out of place to parade your troubles through a local paper. A verbal statement is bad enough, but then unpleasant statements are much worse because they can not be easily erased. Newspaper files are preserved in families from one generation to another, and in years to come printed accounts of trifling neighborhood quarrels will come to the view of those who should have only pleasant memories of the ones long since gone to their reward.

We therefore beseech you not to come to the Evening News with accounts of neighborhood and social differences. A clean, well-managed newspaper should have no space for such matters.

BRITISH PROHIBITIONISTS FIGHTING FOR ABSOLUTE BONE DRYNESS

British prohibitionists won't be satisfied until the entire nation boards the water wagon for the duration of the war and the demobilization period. The gradual paring down of "open" hours for drinking is not enough; they want absolute prohibition of all liquor and a ban on its manufacture.

Here are some of the striking comparisons advertised by the Strength of Britain Movement, demanding abolition of Drink:

During the war enough grain has been used in liquor manufacture to make two billion quarters loaves of bread.

Breweries and distilleries use enough sugar to supply the Army. Though Germany has sunk 2,300,000 tons of British shipping, the liquor industry uses 1,800,000 measurement tons a year to import raw materials.

The Board of Trade withdrew large numbers of skilled men from the Army to carry on ship construction, but the liquor traffic could release enough artisans to make 800,000 tons in six months.

Coal shortage compelled the withdrawal of 11,000 miners from the army to resume mining while liquor manufacture consumes the output of 6,000 miners.

The Government passed the workers' customary holidays but loss of time directly traceable to alcohol equals a three-months vacation by the entire nation.

Prohibition people never tire of pointing to Russia as an example of what the water wagon can do.

They joined in the general outcry against the Asquith cabinet, daily demanding that the ministers resign and place the conduct of the war in more efficient hands and are now preparing to go before the people in the parliamentary elections, if cabinet action does not remove the alleged menace.

In an election the liquor matter would indirectly become a referendum as the people would be asked to elect or defeat candidates according to their advocacy of prohibition or opposition to it.

WHAT WAR HAS DONE TO ITALY FINANCIALLY

The budget reports for Italy's two years of war to-day shows that in the financial year 1915-16 Italy spent $2,125,000, of which $652,000,000 were for ordinary and $1,473,000,000 for war expenses.

Ordinarily there would have been a surplus of $92,000,000. The war ministry accounted for $1,398,000,000. Needy families of soldiers received $88,000,000 of this amount. The Ministry of Marine spent $75,000,000.

Other items directly due to the war included $51,000,000 for issuing and paying interest on three war loans; $4,200,000 for transportation and helping emigrants to repatriate; $1,400,000 to place the Italian Red Sea colony in a state of defense and $1,200,000 for the fishermen of the Adriatic coast. The 1915-16 budget closed with a deficit of $152,500,000.

In 1916-17 the army budget was increased by $900,000,000 and the navy by $63,000,000. The payment of interest on war loans amounted to $57,000,000; $4,400,000 went towards repatriated Italians; $1,000,000 towards strengthening further the Red Sea colony; $900,000 to the fishermen; $300,000 to war orphans. The total expense was $1,796,400,000 and the deficit $652,400,000.

The general economic conditions may be considered almost as good. Probably, much less distress has been caused by the war in Italy than in other belligerent countries. Since the war's beginning Italians have worked more, produced more and saved more than ever before.

The population's thriftiness and toil are proven by the fact that, while the savings banks had $1,519,000,000 on deposit on June 30, 1914, the present deposits considerably exceed $1,600,000,000. This, in spite of the higher cost of living and the war loans, which has absorbed millions of dollars of small savings. Besides, the remittances from emigrants have almost ceased, as there are now only 35,000 emigrants abroad, compared with 380,000 in 1913. In 1916 imports exceeded exports by $664,000,000.

WORLD TRADE AFTER THE WAR TO BE DISCUSSED BY FOREIGN TRADE COUNCIL

Pittsburgh, Wednesday, was a magnet drawing toward it the brains of American business. In eight special trains the leaders of American finance, production and industry arrived as fast as Mogul engines could bring them.

The 800 or more traveling will join 50 Pittsburgh men there tomorrow in the fourth annual convention of the National Foreign Trade Council.

Special attention will be given by the convention to the strengthening systematically of the trade and social bonds between North and South America. Plans will be made for the development of foreign trade with our South American neighbors on the broadest and most progressive basis.

"Greater prosperity through greater foreign trade" will be the dominant motto of what promises to be the most important gathering of big business men in 1917.

The best way to meet new conditions that the country is bound to face after the end of the European war will be the problem of this convention.

A score of the most noted economists, financial experts, traffic men, producers and distributors will treat the question from every conceivable angle. Agricultural, mining, lumbering, merchandising, and transportation experts as well as bankers and manufacturers will have a part in the planning for solidification of American interests to meet every possible eventuality.

James A. Farrell, Frank A. Vanderlip and John N. Willys are three of the leaders of the convention.

One special train was made up at New Orleans. It carries the progressive business leaders of the reconstructed South. Another was coming from San Francisco. A third was eastward bound from the rich harvest districts of the Middle West. Another from Chicago brought a large number of railroad men. Still another from New York brought the Wall Street contingent. The northern Lake states sped eastward their copper and lumber men. Various group conferences will bring together from time to time representatives, respectively, of the banking interests, the transportation interests, the agricultural interests.

Whether the war ends on a day's notice or gradually through months or years of tedious negotiations, the delegates are firmly convinced that the conditions will be met without industrial or commercial disaster—or even grave uncertainty or confusion to the country.

HUNTINGTON TO SELL $100,000 WORTH OF HIS $3,000,000 LIBRARY

(By United Press.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The late Collis P. Huntington's nephew, Henry E. Huntington, who married his uncle's widow and who has spent three of the sixty million dollars the railroad baron left him, for rare books, will sell $100,000 worth of duplicates at auction at the Anderson galleries here today and tomorrow.

Huntington possesses probably the most remarkable and valuable library in the country and one of the finest in the world. It is believed that before he has done his collections will be unrivaled by that of any collector past or present.

Huntington bought a million dollars worth of books from the Hoe collection alone. He paid half a million cash for the Duke of Devonshire's library and has bought a dozen other world famous collections from which he has skimmed the cream and disposed of the balance. He employs a small army of cataloguers and assistants and spends a fortune annually for the care of his books.

It is believed Huntington intends to center his main collection at his home in Los Angeles. He is at present living on Fifth avenue in New York, but he has shipped several hundred thousand dollars worth of his books to the west coast and there is talk that he may erect a special library for them.

Collectors are here from throughout the country today to bid for the rare volumes Huntington offers. This is partly due to the fact that not only does Huntington possess one, but in some cases several and in a few instances all the rare first editions of mighty rare volumes.

THE ADVENTIST CONFERENCE MOVES HEADQUARTERS

The Pacific Union Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists moved its headquarters yesterday from the office rooms at 1108½ Broadway, next to the White Store, to 906½ Broadway, over Glane's tailor shop. This gives more commodious office rooms. The denominational work throughout the union field, which includes the states of California, Arizona, Utah and Western Colorado, is growing rapidly, making necessary a large amount of administrative detail. To do this work properly the change to larger quarters was found necessary.

BIRDHOUSE EXHIBITORS

Say, boys, all you who exhibited birdhouses, you know how hard the Garden Society officials worked to make the exhibit a success and to provide fifteen fine prizes for the lucky winners. Show your thanks by doing the Garden Society a good turn. The society has to have money to run these exhibits and to carry on flower shows and to do all sorts of things for the benefit of Glendale. So get busy, you boys, and see how many tickets you can sell for June Caprice in "The Modern Cinderella," at the Palace Grand Feb. 2. Phone 394 up Mrs. Nanno Woods, Glendale 394, or Morris E. Caruthers, 395W or Miss Olive Williams 330W. Suppose fifty boys would sell ten tickets each this week and another fifty would sell ten tickets each next week, that would make 1000 tickets sold. Fine idea. Come on, boys, show what fine fellows you are.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

The McKenzie home at 541 South Kenwood street was the scene of a very pleasant event Monday evening when Gerald McKenzie and Miss Olive Svenson were surprised with a dinner in honor of their birthday anniversaries. Misses Lily McKenzie and Hazel Flower were the charming hostesses of the occasion.

The table was very prettily decorated with marigolds and yellow ribbons reached from the chandeliers to the dainty hand-painted place cards, the clever work of Miss Lily McKenzie. The favors were yellow crepe paper candy baskets and the two birthday cakes also carried out the yellow color scheme in their decorations. The delicious dinner was cooked and served by the two young hostesses who proved their proficiency in culinary art. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and dancing and Miss Svenson and Mr. McKenzie received many nice birthday gifts with the congratulations extended. A most delightful evening was spent by all present, among whom were Mrs. John McKenzie, Mrs. E. Svenson, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Adams, Misses Olive Svenson, Helen Svenson, Mildred Svenson, Joyce Dominie, Lucia Wagner, Muriel McKenzie, Hazel Flower and Lily McKenzie; Messrs. HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS

A committee of students, headed by Mr. Ferguson, is working overtime on the High School Variety show scheduled for February 15-16. The entertainment furnished by the High School differs from other entertainments in that all who take part are members of the local institution. Glendale High has the reputation of furnishing an excellent program, and it is the determination of this committee and those who are planning to take part in the events to keep up this standard, and even surpass it if possible.

The committee consists of Mr. Ferguson, Katherine Coates, Mildred Wight, Helen Harden, "Brick" Beach, Lehman Crandall and Bill Reese.

Elizabeth Stellar Tuesday successfully staged the play, "Sunset," with the following cast: Helen Harden, Florence Kenworthy, Jeanette McLenon and Marguerite Hauber. Our youthful directors are acquiring great skill.

Another big debate has been announced. This time Glendale meets Pasadena and Lincoln in a triangle battle on the subject of railroad regulation. The limited question will be received from the U. S. C. a week before the debate. Glendale will probably be represented by H. Scheuner, the Durand brothers and McLeod. Details will be reported soon.

Doris Ingledue, Myrtle Tummel, Lola East, Mrs. Lewis Coole, Joseph Maier and Eldred Marlatt of the class of 1916 visited the school Tuesday. They received a hearty welcome.

Robert Carmack, president of the Sophomore class, has appointed the following committees to take charge of the Soph Valentine hop: Decorations, Cecilia Lyon, Geneva Martin, Gilbert Emery, Ruth Ryan and Lewis Read; program, Eloise Seaman, Jean Anderson and Fred Dodge. The dance will be held February 9.

GLENDALE RECIPROCITY DAY

Masonic Temple, artistically decorated with rustic baskets filled with white flowers and greenery, was the scene on Tuesday of the first San Fernando Valley Reciprocity day of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club. Members from the following clubs were entertained: Thursday Afternoon club of Tropico, Eagle Rock Twentieth Century club, Woman's club of Burbank, the Ebell club of San Fernando, the Woman's Civic League of San Fernando, the Van Nuys Woman's club, the Woman's club of Lankershim, the Woman's club of Owensmouth and the Woman's club of Pacoima.

The president of the local club, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, graciously welcomed the guests of the day, and spoke on the power and responsibilities of the Valley clubs. Mrs. Ella W. Richardson gave an informal talk on the Verdugo family in which she related many interesting things in connection with the early days of Glendale. Following the reminiscences of Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Mattison B. Jones gave an instructive paper on "Flood Control" as it affected the San Fernando valley. The bill defining flood districts and regulating the bond election was drafted by an attorney of whom Glendale may well be proud, Mr. Frederick Baker. Mrs. Jones urged the club representatives present to vote yes on the bond election for the following reasons: To secure the federal appropriation; to prevent the tieup of business; to provide official channels; because 75 per cent of the bond issue will give employment to labor; to protect the citrus industry; to prevent an annual yearly damage which has almost equaled the proposed bond issue; and to solve the flood control problem without special assessments. Mrs. Bartlett then introduced Mrs. A. S. C. Forbes, president of the History and Landmarks club, and district chairman of history and landmarks. Mrs. Forbes in an earnest address enthused her audience (while not neglecting landmarks commemorating Spanish life) to begin an active campaign to secure the proper landmarks in commemoration of John C. Fremont, through whose efforts California became United States property, and of other Americans whose service to California has been noteworthy. Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoneman, who was to have related Spanish customs in old Spanish costumes, was detained by illness.

Mrs. H. E. Bartlett then called upon the visiting presidents or their representatives whose responses were hearty words of greeting and co-operation. Tea and wafers were served at the close of an instructive and enjoyable afternoon.

CARD OF THANKS

To the good people of Glendale and Tropico we extend our sincere thanks for their generous assistance to us in our recent disastrous loss by fire.

TROPICO TRUSTEES

CITIZENS OF PALMER AVE. OBJECT TO CHANGING THEIR STREET NAME

The trustees of the city of Tropico met in regular session Tuesday evening at 7:30, with the following officers and members of the board present: Trustees Peters, president of the board; Henry Alspach, Seal and Veselich; City Clerk Mrs. Coleman; City Attorney Shaw; City Engineer Wattles and Health Officer Mabry.

Minutes of the last meeting read and approved.

A communication was received from L. C. McFancher, applying for a taxicab license. On motion of Trustee Henry the license was granted.

An application to sell milk was received from John Crosscetti. Same was referred to health officer.

A communication was received from W. D. Garwood, chairman of the committee appointed some time ago to take steps to force the county auditor to turn over the amount of taxes collected as penalties and fees on delinquencies which he collects for the different municipalities. Mr. Garwood said that the committee would hold a meeting in a short time and asked that Tropico send a representative to the meeting. He also stated that a committee which had been appointed to investigate the books and ascertain the amount due South Pasadena found that more than $900 had been collected last year in delinquencies and penalties which rightfully belonged to South Pasadena and the same practice had been followed in collecting taxes in other cities.

A communication was received from J. W. Burns, general agent of the Pacific Light & Power Co., in answer to a letter received by the board from South Pasadena some time ago in regard to the differences of rates to the consumers of Tropico and those of South Pasadena. In substance Mr. Burns stated that his company was furnishing light and power to South Pasadena at a loss and such conditions were necessary from the fact that the Pasadena Light company had cut rates until they were forced to lower their prices or retire from the South Pasadena field.

A communication was received from L. L. Cushing of La Brae court, Tropico, in which he complained of the way in which it was proposed to drain the surplus water from Acacia avenue into La Brae court. The matter was referred to the street superintendent with instructions to see that a ditch was opened to take care of this water.

A petition was received from the residents of Palmer avenue objecting to the trustees changing the name of their street to Moore Ave. Rev. Goodsell, John T. Kirkham, J. J. Laws and S. Berman each addressed the board on the matter and urged that the board rescind or amend the ordinance which was passed at the last meeting. Mr. Goodsell and John T. Kirkham spoke very pathetically in regard to the changing of their street name, claiming that the board was hasty in its action and that no one on the street knew of the proposed change until the ordinance was passed and published. The different spokesmen were very much wrought up over the matter from the fact that all of the petitioners owned their property and none of them had been consulted in regard to the change. After some discussion it was decided to defer the matter for one week and then change the name back to Palmer or leave it as it was, part Palmer and part Moore, from the fact that the people on Moore avenue will object to having their name changed to Palmer. It is more than likely the names will be re-established as they were before the ordinance was passed.

Dr. Mabry, to whom had been referred the matter of incinerators, reported that they could be purchased for $2.25 each from the Bosselman Hardware company or $3.25 for a heavier kind from the Glendale Hardware company. He was instructed to purchase four from the Bosselman Hardware Co. at $2.25 each.

On motion the office of fire chief was declared vacant, and following this a motion was made appointing Edward Fairfield city fire chief. By this action it separates the office of marshal and fire chief, leaving the duties of Wm. Gould as city marshal.

The following bills were allowed and ordered paid:

Passmore and Sayers, for the new motorcycle recently purchased	$295.75
W. E. Anderson, witness fee	4.25

STUDIES IN PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT

By Walt Le Noir Church

VII: Essentials of Personality. There are just four essential qualities which are basic in personality. Everything which enters into it may be catalogued under one of these four heads.

They are ability, reliability, endurance and action.

The last is really the overt expression of the other three which rounds up the net result, achieved personality.

Ability includes all that constitutes the know how.

But one may know wondrous things; be an animated encyclopedia of even useful knowledge, and still be an utterly worthless citizen.

Reliability is the result of a developed morality which makes one dependable, because one may be relied on for good intentions at least. You believe that a reliable man at least thinks whatever he tells you is true. But, unless he speaks from personal knowledge, not from mere judgment or belief, what he tells you may be very far from the truth.

Endurance applies primarily to the physical condition, regardless of what causes that condition.

If you can work steadily and successfully for sixteen hours of the twenty-four, and keep it up without flagging, or loss of efficiency, for our argument, it makes no difference whether that wondrous endurance results from a mental or moral state, or from both combined, or from the trained perfection of your physical organs, independent of all other considerations.

Action is the ultimate expression of any one or two or of all three, ability, reliability and, endurance combined.

Action is what actually counts, so far as the outside world is concerned; omitting any discussion of thoughts as things forceful in and of themselves.

See how guarded in expression one needs to, keep from giving a wrong idea in this advanced age of New Thought, "Science" and other interpretations of Nature's Big Book taken in connection with the only other great book believed by many sincere seekers after Truth, to be the ultimate Truth, and the touchstone by which all other alleged Truth must be measured.

But there is one gratifying thing about this analysis of personality; it agrees with the highest expression of truth through any and all of those channels known to the writer. For that reason that analysis must be basic, not dependent upon any theory, assumption, creed or authority; because it is a simple, recognized fact in nature, disagreeing with no known law of nature or of revelation.

Such assurance renders its study doubly interesting and convincing.

Relying on those four qualities as the comprehensive factors in personality (the paramount necessity to all success in human affairs which depends upon overt expression—something that is physically done) we are then encouraged to take them up in detail; so wherein each one of us be strong or weak in any or all of those essential qualities, and so prepare ourselves for whatever achievement our several ambitions have foreplanned.

In this way we shall soon be able to discriminate between the four-square, rounded-up character; well-equipped for every phase of human endeavor; aptly prepared for any emergency within the scope of human powers to meet, and that one or two-sided character which ever falls short of any marked success because lacking in one or more of those admittedly essential characteristics.

Is not that study "worth the candle?"

How his radiators spend their evenings.

"Will this radiator care," we'll ask, "whether we freeze to death?"

And if the landlord answers evasively, we'll go elsewhere.

Big, husky, intelligent looking radiators like ours, that stand around and hiccup and sing soprano at seven o'clock in the morning have certainly gone to the devil and there's no hope for them.
